SCENE IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES. During the session of Wednesday the soldiers' and sailors' bounty-land bill was considered as the regular order, and elicited considerable dis-

Mr. Townsend, of Pennsylvania, contended that the passage of the bill was not desired by the soldiers, and presented a protest from the department of Pennsylvania Grand Army of the Republic against such legislation as was now proposed. He charged that the bill was in the interest of claim agents and speculators only, and said not a single soldier had ever indicated to him a d. s.re for the passage of this

Mr. Speer, of Pennsylvania, denied that the soldiers who carried the musket were opposed to the bill, and said the memorial presented by Mr. Townsend, signed by the Governor and Surveyor General-elect and others, came from the epauletted soldiers who smelled the battle from afar, and did not represent the views of the unlettered soldier who stood on picket and carried the musket. He said that this grand army was run in the interest of a political par ty; it was a semi political party, and its leaders had been used by politicians, and he had no doubt were sent here now by railroad cor-

The debate for a time assumed the charac ter of a colloquy between Messrs. Speer and Townsend about the soldiers, Governor Har-trauft, and political affairs in Pennsylvania. Mr. Townsend said that the soldiers of the war were all Republicans, while the soldiers of the rebellion were Democrats. Mr. Randall, of Pennsylvania: That is

Mr. Speer: I denounce that statement as unworthy of my colleague; as false, in fact, and as unworthy of a representative from Pennsyl-

Mr. Townsend said that what he meant to say was this; that the rebellion was organized and inaugurated by the Democratic party of the South; it was carried on by the Democratic party of the South, aided by the moral influce of their coadjutors, the Democratic party of the North, and that nine-tenths of the soldiers of the war were Republicans, while the remaining one tenth were Democrats.

Mr. Speer: How many battles were you Mr. Townsend: I was not in any.
Mr. Randall: No; you were at home making money. Mr. Townsend: So were you. Mr. Randall: Oh, no; I was in the war. Mr. Townsend: I never heard of it be-

Mr. Speer: You were too far away to know who was in the war. Mr. Randall: I went as a private soldier.

LIVELY TIMES IN SCRANTON. - [From the Scranton Republican. |-The city was thrown into a wild state of excitement yesterday morning in consequence of the caning of the editor of the Sunday Free Press, and the complete demolition of the material of the establishment. The facts are as follows: In Sunday's issue of the above paper was contained a libellous and scandalous article on the character of an estimable married lady of this city, alleging in unmistakable language, the elopement of Mrs. H. O. Silkman and Mr. Fr. n : Marsh. The i jured and indignant husband called in company with his wife's brother, Mr. Abbott Gardner, yesterday morning at the office of the Free Press, and asked Mr. Coon if he was the editor. The reply being in the affirmative, Mr. Silkman sla; ped him in the face, and at the same time drew up his cane and used it without stint upon the head of Mr. Coon. The case broke, and Coon jumped up to defend himself, but Silkman clutched him by the throat, ran him againt the wa'l, a: d wasi: t e ct of striking him when Mr. Gardner interferred, and Con got loose and ran, with Mr. Silkman in pursuit. When Mr. Silkman reached the hall, J. T. Lutton, a composito on the paper, caught him around the waist, but let him go when Mr. Gardner came to his assistance. They then entered the composing-room, and in less than five minutes the establishment was knocked into "pi." Stands were thrown over, cases turned bottom-up, and type scattered in every direction-part of it going out of the window.

Mr. Lutton states that Mr. Gardner stood at the door of the composing room with a revolver in his hand to shoot any one that entered while Mr. Silkman demolished the contents of the establishment. The news spread fast, as every person expected trouble, knowing that Mr. Silkman, although a peaceable man and good citizen, would not let pass by, in silence, so damnable and foul a slauder on the character of his wife. Crowds gathered around the office, and after the excitement had subsided ventured up to look upon what was once a printing office, but then a heap of ruins. People stood in little knots on the streets discussing the affair, but the one expression fell from every lip, viz: "He was perfectly justified in doing as he did."

CHRISTMAS IS COMING.-The fleeting moments are bringing these holidays nearer and nearer. Millions of hearts are anxiously awaiting it. They long for the rest and happy reunion of home links. As long as we live Christmas will be to us an occasion of interest. If we do not find the joy sit brings to boyhood, it will, at least, remind us that the years are creeping by, and it will set us to counting the past years of our life, and in spite of us, will wake up old thoughts that have long been slumber-ing which will vainly try to break through the partition which keep back the future from our scrutiny, Christmas is Coming! What emotions does the announcement cause in the breasts of the little ones! They look forward to it with impatience, and long before the festive occasion arrives, they dream of the many good things it invariably brings with it. The approach of Christmas is signalized by an increased activity in business, especially in those branches which contribute to its pleasures and festivities. Our stores are being garbed in their holiday attire, and articles intended for presents to make home happy and bright, grace the windows and showcases. Of course everybody will want to know where they can get the prettiest, nicest and cheapest of such articles. Let them examine from now until Christmas our advertising columns, and there you will ascertain where you can get the handsomest presents for the least

Washington, D. C., April 30, 1872. Having bought and used four of your Wheel-er & Wilson Sewing Machines for the last seventeen years in my family, and to the entire satisfaction and pleasure of every men ber there-of, we therefore cordially unite, from a sense of duty, in recommending it to the public gener-ally as being the best, the easiest running, most desirable and most durable Sewing Machine we have ever known.

My two little daughters when they were so small that their feet, when sitting on a chair, would not reach the treadle, and were consequently obliged to stand on one foot and run the machine with the other, which they could and did do right along, with perfect ease and comfort. Both of them to-day own one, and to part with them would be like parting with a bought it.

This distressing Affection—which renders life miserable and marriage impossible—is the penalty paid by the victims of improper indulgencies. Young persons are too apt to commit excesses from not being aware of the dreadful consequences that may ensue. Now, who that understands the subject will pretend to deny that the natural powers are lost sooner by those falling into improper habits than by the prudent? Besides being deprived of the pleasure of healthy offspring, the most serious and destructive symptoms of both body and mind arise. The system becomes deranged, the Physical and Mental Functions weakened.
